Reflections from our Parish Life Coordinator

By Katie Jansen

Since I have taken on the role of Parish Life Coordinator, several people have asked what I did before I came to College Church. I thought I'd share some experiences that ultimately led me here. I got to know the Jesuits as a Jesuit Volunteer in Mobile, Alabama where I worked with the L'Arche community. My biggest take-away from that year was just how frustrating and consoling being in community can be. A few things I learned:

- * There is a wrong way to make orange juice from concentrate.
- * NEVER buy fluorescent pink hotdogs even if they are the cheapest.
- * A meal for 20 people can be cooked in one hour, but I don't recommend it.
- * The person who you are there to serve will also serve you if you allow them to.

From there I went to St. Louis University to get a Master of Social Work. I was unsure what I would do after I graduated until I encountered faith-based community organizing. Through organizing I was given the opportunity to build community and live a faith that does justice in the public arena. During my tenure in community organizing, I directed two different non-profits. A few things I learned:

- * A person's greatest struggle is often the source of their greatest strength.
- * Grant deadlines are no joke. I once wrote a grant at a McDonald's as I was going into labor to make sure it got submitted on time.
- * Churches are called to more than just gathering people on Sunday; and
- * pastors and religious leaders are called to be both pastoral and prophetic leaders. Also, there is awesome power and energy in multiple congregations and faith traditions coming together around shared values.

I came to College Church six years ago. My goal as parish administrator was to take administrative tasks off of Fr. Dan's desk as well as support and challenge all of us to become the church that God is calling us to be in this time and place. This bulletin isn't long enough for me to name all of the things I've learned since coming to College Church, but here are two:

- * I don't have to know how to do everything. I just have to know the people who know what I don't.
- * Sharing meals together (or a glass of wine) is just as important as getting tasks done.

And now, I'm in for another serious learning curve; maybe we all are.

Seeking New Hosts for Parish And Community

For the last couple of years, St. Francis Xavier has had an interview series on our YouTube channel called "Parish and Community," featuring both parishioners and people connected to College Church in our neighborhood (and beyond!). Would you like to be part of making this possible? We're looking for parishioners who can help conduct these interviews. All it takes is a computer where you can Zoom. We have a list of potential interviewees at the ready, and can help provide sample questions too. Please contact Angela Pancella at angela@sfxstl.org or (314) 977-7304 to learn more or to volunteer!

NOTA BENE

Please consider a gift to the Annual Catholic Appeal.

Your generosity will immerse our communities in God's unconditional love, which fills all of our hearts and unites us as one family, Brothers and Sisters All.

Every year, the Annual Catholic Appeal brings the Archdiocese of St. Louis together to act as stewards of God's many blessings. United as one Church, we can answer His call to show compassion to those most in need. Your support of the Appeal will help sustain the outreach efforts of our Church so that our brothers and sisters whom the Appeal helps can find hope and healing.

Learn more or make a gift at aca.archstl.org.

Theology of Synodality

"What the heck is synodality?" Fr. Dan will be offering an introduction to the theology of synodality this spring. Sessions will be via Zoom and will take place the five Tuesdays of May. The primary source will be the International Theological Commission's document on synodality. We will also look at the relevant biblical texts and the Vatican II document Lumen Gentium. Sessions will go from 7:15 to 8:15 May 3, 10, 17, 24 and 31.

The registration link is on our website, sfxstl.org.

Metropolitan Congregations United (MCU) "Dancing in the Streets" Gala and Fundraiser

Do you love weddings? Would you be interested in becoming a part of the College Church Wedding Ministry Team? We are currently looking to expand our Wedding Ministry and need a couple of Sacristans. This is a paid position. This position does require a Friday and Saturday commitment, however, this requirement is not for every weekend.

For more information call Sandy Hauck at 977-7303 or email her at sandy@sfxstl.org.

Antiracism at College Church

At College Church, antiracism is an expression of our recognition that all are created in the image of God. As such, we respond—personally and collectively—to the call to identify, and to actively challenge, structures and systems that devalue people on the basis of race, and to practice restoration in the pursuit of justice.

Medicaid Expansion in Missouri: A Long and Circuitous History

Disparities in health outcomes and access to healthcare services have been among the many ways we continue to see racism manifested in our communities. According to a report from the Missouri Health Foundation, Black and Latinx Americans experience higher rates of uninsurance than white Americans. Progress in addressing these concerns was realized when Missouri voters approved extending Medicaid coverage in 2020. This plan also supports vulnerable health facilities in rural areas of the state, stabilizing access to care and creating opportunities for employment.

Since the passing of this legislation, multiple barriers to its implementation have been erected, and voters may face the issue yet again in November. The following review of this long and circuitous story is offered as we may be called, once again, to act in support of access to healthcare in our state.

In National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB) v. Sebelius (2012), the Supreme Court ruled that Medicaid expansion—which extends coverage to adults under age 65 with household incomes up to 138% of the poverty level—was not required under the Affordable Care Act (Obamacare) but was an option for each individual state to implement. The Federal government agreed to cover 90% of costs for the thirty-eight states expanding Medicaid. Maine expanded coverage in 2017, Utah, Nebraska, and Idaho in 2018, and Oklahoma in 2020. In the interim, the Missouri legislature fought for years against the expansion, and in this time seven rural hospitals closed in the state.

In the August 2020 primary election, Missouri voters chose to amend the Missouri constitution to include Medicaid expansion. With a 53.3% - 46.7% plurality, the processing of applications would commence the following fall, with estimates of 275,000 Missourians expected to be eligible. The legislature simply refused to fund the Medicaid expansion, deciding that voters did not understand the amendment. In May 2021, three individuals who would have been eligible for the benefits of Medicaid expansion filed suit in Cole County against the Missouri Department of Social Services and the Missouri HealthNet Division.

In July, the case worked its way to the Missouri Supreme Court, which ruled in a 7–0 decision that Medicaid expansion be implemented.

The argument that the state could not afford the expansion simply was not true. The state government started the 2021 fiscal year with a budget surplus of $1.1 billion. Under the expansion plan, the Federal government would increase its contribution from 65% to 90%, plus the American Rescue Plan kicked in an extra 5% to the regular federal matching, which meant Missouri would be awarded $968 million over two years. The Brown School of Social Work at Washington University estimated Missouri's cost for expansion to be $130 million.

After a lengthy legal and political battle, more than 70,000 Missourians have pending applications. It takes 119 days, on average, to process an application, which is twice the maximum time of forty-five days allowed by federal laws. Bram Sable-Smith, with Kaiser Health News Midwest, says most states are processing their Medicaid expansion applications within a week. Professor Tricia Brooks at Georgetown says that, as people await approval of their applications, they continue to delay needed care and to avoid seeking preventative services.

In Jefferson City, the Missouri House has passed a proposed constitutional amendment that would make multiple changes to the state's Medicaid program, including allowing the legislature to control funding its expansion. The amendment would give the legislature the power to separately appropriate funding for the Medicaid expansion on a yearly basis. House members voted 95–45 to pass the resolution. If the Senate agrees, it will need approval from Missouri voters in November to go into effect.

Tuesday Vigil Reminder

Weekly Tuesday night vigils for racial justice will continue each week from 6–7 p.m. You are invited to join on the steps of College Church to stand in prayer and hold signs calling for racial justice locally and nationally.

YOUTH AND FAMILY FAITH FORMATION

BE A PART OF THE COLLEGE CHURCH RELIGIOUS EDUCATION PROGRAM

The College Church Religious Education, RE, program is looking for faith-filled individuals to lead RE classes next year.

No experience is needed. Individuals need to be strong in their faith and eager to share it with children. The textbook series is Finding God, a publication of Loyola Press which takes an Ignatian Approach to religious instruction. In addition to class work and discussions the school year includes Sandwich Sundays, and Class Masses and service days as possible. Those are coordinated by the Youth Faith Formation staff.

Catechists work in teams, and a parent or parishioner is often paired with a SLU student. The students bring their leadership experience and love for God, which is outstanding modelling for our children.

Classes meet on most Sunday mornings, 9:15 – 10:20 in the Parish Center and in Davis-Shaughnessy Hall, from September through early May. On nice mornings classes often meet outside. On Sundays when a catechist is not available, the co-leader will manage the class. If you are unable to commit to a full schedule right now, you can volunteer to be a substitute.

Catechists receive free tuition for their children and are paid a modest stipend. They need to be in compliance with the Archdiocese Prevent and Protect STL program.

Please contact Terry Edelmann at terry@sfxstl.org or Julie Kilian at julie.kilian4@gmail.com if you want to volunteer or if you have any questions. You can also contact Terry or Julie if you have questions about the RE program itself.

REGISTRATION NOW OPEN FOR YOUTH FAITH FORMATION PROGRAMS

Families with children preschool through eighth grade can register for the 2022-2023 College Church Youth Faith Formation Programs. The College Church offers both a traditional religious education (RE) program and a Catechesis of the Good Shepherd (CGS) program. The RE program is available for children second through eighth grade. The CGS program is offered for children from preschool through sixth grade. You may be put on a waiting list for the CGS program.

Classes meet at 9:15 on Sunday morning in the College Church and in Davis-Shaughnessy Hall, just west of the Pius XII Library. RE classes conclude at 10:40, GCS classes go until 11:15 with children brought to their parents during the 10:30 Mass.

Both programs are based on Ignatian Spirituality, with an emphasis on God's unconditional love, and on the importance of service. The programs use the Examen to reflect on each day's opportunity to be Christ-like in daily activities.

RE classes are organized by grade level and operate in a more traditional classroom setting. CGS classes are Montessori-based, with multi-aged groupings, and they encourage children to grow in their faith life through individual experience. Children in both programs receive sacraments in second and eighth grade.

For more information about these programs contact Julie Kilian at julie.kilian4@gmail.com or Terry Edelmann at terry@sfxstl.org.

To register, visit sfxstl.org/youth-faith and click the "Youth Faith Formation Registration" button.

2022 Offertory ItemsFirst Communion Offerings- What is it that we bring to the Altar?

What is it that we bring to the altar? In preparation for First Communion this year, we have spent time with the children reflecting on this question. The “simple” answer is bread and wine. And yet, when we begin to ponder the bread and wine, the richness of these gifts unfolds.

One of the insights that we have come to this year in our preparation is that all of creation is a gift from God to us, but that creation is not finished yet. It is a part of God’s plan that human beings have a special role in the on-going work of creation, in the transformation of creation. By the work of our hands, we take the gift of wheat and make bread; we take grapes and make wine. Our work brings the creation of the earth to a new place. The bread and wine represent all the gifts that we’ve received from God that we transform “by the work of our hands”-our cooking, our cleaning, our drawing, our skating, our playing sports, our befriending, our reading, our studying, our loving. We present our whole lives to God at the altar and ask God to transform them, to fill them-that God’s presence may shine through them.

As part of our celebration of First Communion, the children who are celebrating have each brought a symbol of “the work of their hands;” these will be placed near the altar as a visible image of what the offering of bread and wine represent to them: the offering of their daily lives on behalf of God’s gifts.

The work of our hands:

Drawing of vines and how to keep blocks from my branch (The True Vine) “This is to remind me that God loves me.”
Sophia

Picture of her Irish dance shoes-”To represent the joy God has given me that I express through dance. “ Lilly

Painting- “I like to draw and paint. I offer that gift to God. “ Ben

Lego car-” This represents my gift in building and creating things that are helpful to people.” Carlo

Plant-”Life, and my family is a gift. I love my family.” Gabby

Watercolor paints and paintbrush-” Because God has given me the gift of being an artist. I love art and that God has given me this talent.” Mary Helen

Ceramic turtle, made in preschool- “It has a special place in my heart because of the time and effort I put into it; and it reminds me of my friends and family. And also it has been broken a couple times, but my dad fixes it and that’s why I love it. “ Catherine

Ballet shoes- “Ballet is my gift and I love doing it.” Andrea

Dark blue marker with the cap taped on-”I like to draw in my spare time and blue is my favorite color. And dark blue because I write big. And the cap is taped on because I can’t get my courage to stop.” Patrick

Calculator-”The gift I am grateful for is being good at math. Math is fun and interesting.” Simon

Photo of my cats- “I live with my cats, and I am with them so much I have a strong connection with them. I care about them because they are my family. I help take care of them by feeding them and playing with them and petting them... They always understand me.” Rowan

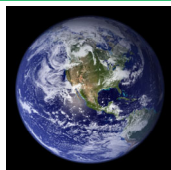

Irish dance shoes-” Because my ability to dance is a gift and I enjoy Irish dancing and competing.” Abby

Gymnastics medal-”Because God made me flexible and able to move my body.” Bella

Play food pizza- “I like to make pizza. I could give food to people who are hungry, either because they don’t have enough money or because they are sick or have a new baby.” Bianca

Stuffed animal- “Because it reminds me of how many people love me.” Margaret
