Reflection from Our Pastoral Council Co-Chair

By Aimee Wittman

St. Phoebe, Pray for Us!

This weekend I am filled with hope and joy as we, the community at St. Francis Xavier College Church, join with over 160+ Catholic parishes, high schools, universities, retreat centers, and organizations who will commemorate the Feast of St. Phoebe throughout the month of September.

"I commend to you Phoebe our sister, who is a deacon of the church at Cenchræe, that you may receive her in the Lord in a manner worthy of the holy ones, and help her in whatever she may need from you, for she has been a benefactor to many and to me as well." Romans 16:1-2

The words that capture my imagination in this Scripture are these: "That you may receive her in the Lord in a manner worthy of the holy ones." I believe that each of us, by virtue of our baptism, are invited and called to be received by the Lord in a manner worthy of the holy ones.

For me, I have been received by the Lord through the love, presence, and wisdom of many holy ones – including the many faithful women who have accompanied me on my faith journey. I, and we, have benefitted from their abundance of gifts. One of the hopes and dreams that emerged through the global synod is the desire to rethink women's participation in the life of the Church. As we await the Global Synod on Communion, Participation, and Mission, I wonder, with deep faith and through listening to the Holy Spirit, what it would mean for all of God's people if we might more fully receive and make visible the gifts of women in service to the mission of the Church, for she has been a benefactor to many and to me as well.

PRAY FOR THE DECEASED

With the hope of the Resurrection, we ask that you remember in your prayers:

Susan Stanec (mother of Sandy Hauck)

May she and all the departed share in the peace and joy of God's presence forever.

Fair Trade Sales this Sunday!

Fair trade coffee, tea, chocolate and more will be available in the vestibule for purchase after the 8 am and 10:30 am Masses. All sales support our sister parish, St. Peter Claver in Belize.

Living Our Faith: Meet Marty

(Note: we are debuting this week a series of profiles of parishioners to help us all get to know one another better. If you are interested in participating, or want to suggest we highlight a parishioner friend, contact Angela at angela@sfxstl.org.)

I've been a parishioner for: 20+ years. I was introduced to College Church as a seminarian, when I took some courses at SLU and was exposed to the teaching and preaching of Fr. John Kavanaugh. While I didn't become a priest, the experience made an impression. My wife Susan and I joined SFX much later, after our kids graduated.

Living my faith: Music has been a constant thread in my involvement at College Church. I was in the choir for many years and now play guitar at 10:30 Mass every other week. I also play regularly at the ID and Birth Certificate program. It's rewarding to watch the healing power of music reduce stress, lift spirits and establish connections. Some of the guests say thank you, and sing along.

In addition, I'm a member of the Parish Council, have been involved in our antiracism initiative and, with Susan, have assisted the marriage preparation program.

Why I'm involved: College Church is an intentional parish community. We chose to join because of the high quality of the liturgy – the excellence of the homilies, the beautiful choir and music. After we retired, we deepened our commitment and were drawn to the social justice programs.

Over the years, we've developed personal history with College Church. One of our sons was married here and seven of our nine grandchildren were baptized here. We have a lot of affection for the community. SFX is very special, and there's not another like it.

Three words that describe SFX: Intentional, Involved, Progressive

My neighborhood: Kenrick Park, near the Cardinal Rigali Center in Shrewsbury

Fun facts: I was a Human Resources executive for a diverse range of companies, most recently with Midwest Bank Center for 15 years before I retired. Father Dan tapped my HR skills when College Church was looking to hire a parish administrator. Katie Jansen got the job, of course, and it's remarkable to have a such a capable woman leading our parish. For fun, I'm part of a band called What's Next. We started up during the Pandemic to play pop, rock and acoustic music. We've even had a few public performances -- at parish festivals, the Webster Groves Arts Festival and at my condo.

St. Francis Xavier's parish family represents diverse backgrounds, ages and interests, with many immensely talented, deeply engaged, warm and welcoming parishioners. We come from all areas of the St. Louis region, including from over 80 zip codes. Learn more about our parish and how to become involved by calling (314) 977-7300 or visiting sfxstl.org.

LIGHTWORKS - AN EXPERIENCE OF IGNATIAN PRAYER

LIGHTWORKS is a "light form of work," a series of limbering up exercises for the spirit. Physical exercises build muscle, increase stamina, and develop flexibility. So LIGHTWORKS does for the spirit. These exercises of prayer and reflection, build our relationship with God and help us become more aware of God's presence in our lives. It consists of weekly group sessions.

Participants are given scripture passages or reflections from the Spiritual Exercises of St. Ignatius to pray over each week. These invite us into conversation with God about our lives. Then during the weekly session, there is sharing about these passages and a presentation. There are 16 weekly sessions with 8 before Thanksgiving and 8 in the new year. LightWorks will be offered via Zoom on Monday evenings from 7:00 until 8:30, beginning on October 2. Flyers are now available at the doorways of the church. For more information, please contact Joseph Milner at 314-977-7305 or Joe@sfxstl.org.

LITURGICAL MINISTRY

The prayerfulness and beauty of our Sunday liturgical celebrations is due in a large part to the various liturgical ministers who share their time and talent with the parish.

Usher/Greeters welcome everyone with friendly faces, answer questions, and assist them with special needs. Acolytes prepare the vessels and hosts, organize the books, and assist all involved so that the liturgy runs smoothly. Lectors prepare and proclaim the readings and Universal Prayers (General Intercessions) each Sunday. The choir raises their voices for God's glory and leads the assembly in the hymns. Eucharistic ministers distribute communion to the assembly and when needed can take communion to the homebound. The liturgical laundry team washes and prepares the linens used at the altar each week. The Art and Environment team prepares and decorates the church for the special seasons each year. More dedicated hands are needed in each of these ministries.

Training will be provided so that your gifts can help everyone pray and worship better. Representatives will be in the vestibule after the masses on August 20 and 27 to answer questions and provide more information. Please take time to consider how your gifts can be a blessing for others.

For more information, contact Joe Milner, joe@sfxstl.org or Mary Seise, mary@sfxstl.org

Antiracism at College Church

At College Church, antiracism is an expression of our recognition that all are created in the image of God. As such, we respond—personally and collectively—to the call to identify, and to actively challenge, structures and systems that devalue people on the basis of race, and to practice restoration in the pursuit of justice.

National Hispanic Heritage Month

Each year, from September 15th through October 15th Americans observe National Hispanic Heritage Month. This recognition began in 1968 as Hispanic Heritage Week to recognize the many achievements and contributions of Americans with Hispanic and Latin American ancestry. It was expanded to a month-long observance in 1988. The celebration begins in the middle rather than the start of September because it coincides with national independence days in several Latin American countries: Guatemala, Honduras, El Salvador, Nicaragua, and Costa Rica celebrate independence on September 15th, followed by Mexico on the 16th, Chile on the 18th and Belize on September 21st.

It may seem that the terms Hispanic and Latino/a are used interchangeably however, they actually have different meanings. It is generally accepted that Hispanic refers to people with a Spanish-speaking background. Latino, on the other hand, refers to those from the geographic region of Latin America. This includes much of Central and South America as well as the Caribbean. Although there is much overlap between the two terms, those from countries like Brazil (with its 200 million Portuguese speakers) may identify as Latino or Latina, but not Hispanic. (InterExchange, 2020)

All of these identities are included in the observance of National Hispanic Heritage Month and we acknowledge their achievements and contributions in all aspects of U.S. society: government, education, science, performing arts, athletics, business, social service, and religion. We will highlight some of these contributions in the coming weeks.

Celebrating Jewish New Year

One of the most important holidays in the Jewish calendar, Rosh Hashanah lasts two full days. Also known as Jewish New Year, it commemorates the creation of Adam and Eve. On the first night of the celebration Jews wish each other: "May you be inscribed and sealed for a good year." This year it begins at sundown on September 15 and begins the Hebrew year 5784.

The main observance is sounding the shofar, the ram's horn, on both days of the holiday. Blowing the shofar symbolizes a trumpet blast. It fills those who hear it with awe and humility recalling that God fills all space and time. It calls to mind the binding of Isaac just before a ram took Isaac's place as an offering to God. Its mournful cry is a call to repentance. Chassidic masters teach that the cry of the shofar is like the wail of a child crying for its parent – words cannot express such primal longing. On Rosh Hashanah one's very soul cries out for God.

The Torah readings on Rosh Hashanah are about the troubled relationship between Abraham and Sarah including Ishmael's birth, Sarah's expulsion of Hagar and Ishmael, and Abraham almost slaughtering his own son. Yet, Abraham and Sarah helped shape the Jewish faith. Their stories remind us that even people we look up to have character flaws and imperfect human beings should not lose hope of achieving great things.

Next is Hannah's prayer to have a child which proves that God fulfills even the most improbable request. After all, Hannah's plight led to the eventual birth of the Prophet Samuel. Thus, from sorrow to joy, Hannah's story is essentially that of the whole Jewish community.

After these prayers a festive meal with symbolic foods is shared at home. For example, sweet foods symbolize blessings and abundance, so while dipping apple into honey one might pray: "May it be Your will to bless us with a prosperous year." Serving a fish or ram's head symbolizes the desire to excel in the coming year. And pomegranate filled with seeds symbolizes a year filled with good deeds.

Let us all wish our Jewish sisters and brothers a happy and holy New Year!

Founded by Chance, Sustained by Courage

Across the Mississippi River, about three miles north-east of St. Louis lies the town of Brooklyn, Illinois. A community of approximately 700 residents, Brooklyn is also known as Lovejoy, after Elijah Lovejoy, the abolitionist who was killed by a white mob in Alton, Illinois. As it turns out, Brooklyn is a small town sitting on a big historical legacy.

Brooklyn is the oldest town in the United States to have been incorporated by African Americans, and it is one of the last such remaining communities. In 1829 Priscilla Baltimore, an African American woman born in Kentucky, led eleven black families—whose members were both free and enslaved—from St. Louis to Illinois, escaping the slave state of Missouri and founding Freedom Village, which became Brooklyn. The city was home to two churches—Quinn Chapel A.M.E. and the Antioch Missionary Baptist Church—that served as stations along the Underground Railroad.

Priscilla Baltimore

Though initially an interracial community, Brooklyn was, by the time of its incorporation in 1873 predominantly black. The African Americans who moved there sought agency and autonomy—the opportunity to join organizations and black-controlled institutions. They were a self-determined lot who became brick masons, carpenters, coopers, and boatmen. As industry grew in the region, efforts were undertaken to bring such businesses to Brooklyn, but both economic investment and the railroad bypassed the city for its neighbor, East St. Louis. Over time, the city fell into decline and now is known for little more than its adult entertainment establishments.

Beginning in 2002, the State of Illinois in collaboration with the University of Illinois were tasked to begin an archaeological dig near Brooklyn before construction could start on the Stan Musial Bridge. After discovering area artifacts that expanded knowledge about early indigenous peoples, the group agreed to extend its research to Brooklyn to explore the city's nineteenth century history. Working with the Historical Society of Brooklyn, which has located photographs, mementos, and bits of oral history, the archaeological group has unearthed remnants of the original Freedom Village under the city's current residential properties. Together these groups aspire to help Brooklyn, which was also a stop along the old Route 66, achieve the designation of an historic district on the National Register of Historic Places.

Significant Figures in Racial History This Week

Stephen Biko – Died September 12, 1977, in Pretoria, South Africa. Biko is one of the most honored martyrs in the fight against South African apartheid. He fostered a spirit of self-reliance freeing Black men and women to no longer see themselves through white eyes, including in the Church. Biko died in a South African prison.

Alain Locke – Born September 13, 1885, in Philadelphia, PA. Locke was a writer, philosopher, educator, and patron of the arts. In 1907, he became the first African American Rhodes Scholar. Locke is considered the architect and "Dean" of the Harlem Renaissance – a cultural revival of African American arts, politics, and scholarship centered in Harlem, NY.

Eric Garner – Born September 15, 1970, in New York, NY. Garner was a retired employee of the NYC Dept. of Parks & Recreation. He was killed in 2014 when an NYPD officer held him in a prohibited chokehold while arresting him. Mr. Garner is remembered for crying out "I can't breathe" 11 times before losing consciousness.

Saint John Macias, OP – Died September 16, 1645, in Lima, Peru. Born in Spain, a wealthy employer paid for Macias' travels to South America. In Lima, he joined the Dominicans as a lay Brother. Known for his generosity to the poor, he fed as many as 200 every day. Several miracles were attributed to Macias, both while living and after his death. He was canonized in 1975.

Current and Upcoming Events

Open now through September 17th, the St. Louis Science Center is hosting Mandela: The Official Exhibition. Through film, photographs, personal artifacts, and experiential galleries, viewers will explore the life of Nelson Mandela and deepen awareness of his commitment to freedom and equality. See Page 7 of this bulletin for information on a College Church outing to this exhibition!

September 14–17 7:00 pm The St. Louis Attitude will be performed at the Zack Theater, 3224 Locust Ave. This play explores Black life in 1899 in the Chestnut Valley area of St. Louis. Tickets are $25 and available through Metrotix: metrotix.com/events/detail/the-st-louis-attitude (314) 533-0367.

September 21 6:00–7:00 pm The monthly prayer vigil for Racial Justice will be held on the front steps of College Church. Reflection and prayer will be devoted to the International Day of Peace. All are welcome to attend.
