FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

The aftermath of the Grand Jury report on six dioceses in Pennsylvania continues to reverberate. The Church in the United States has been rocked by the latest revelations. Church leadership has stressed the structures, safeguards and systems that have been put in place since the early 21st century.

These changes are real and should be commended. My experience as a Jesuit and a priest in the Archdiocese of St. Louis is that these policies are taken very seriously. The same holds true for every person at College Church who works with children. We are blessed to have Terry Edelman who is in charge of making sure we are in compliance as a parish.

These steps are significant. There is nothing more important to us than to be exhaustive in the safety of our children. As our Religious Education year begins soon we remain committed to an environment where our youngest Catholics can continue to thrive and grow in their faith.

Refreshments will be available about 9:00 a.m. and presentations will begin at 9:15 a.m. Please call 314-977-7300 or e-mail Joe Milner, Joseph.Milner@slu.edu if you plan to attend. We look forward to seeing you!

Hospitality and College Church Wedding Ministry

Hospitality is Biblical. It is not elective. As a parish, we are strong on hospitality! It is one of the reasons why my family and I chose to call College Church our faith home. My experience is not unique. It is shared by thousands of students, parishioners and visitors who step inside. Hospitality is at the heart of wedding ministry at College Church.

Every couple that I meet brings their own unique story and unique challenges. One couple I accompanied lived in Montana. The groom was in the Air Force. They were scheduled to be married in the winter of 2017. One spring afternoon I got a call from the bride in tears. They had just found out that he would be deployed to Afghanistan in August. All of her plans came to a screeching halt. We spent an hour discussing the logistics of how she could move their wedding date, but most importantly we talked about her fear of the unknown, her fear for his safety, her fear of loneliness and her fear of how this would change them. Another one of our couples last summer found out that the bride's father had stage 4 cancer. They needed to move their wedding up so that her father would be able to walk his daughter down the aisle. I spent a lot of time on the phone speaking with the mother of the bride. I checked in with them weekly as we worked to change their details. When you are on the front lines in this ministry, it is a gift to be able to offer support, comfort, advice and an ear.

Over the past few years, we have looked critically at how we provide hospitality to our guests. First, we knew we needed a new bride's room. The brides had been assembling in an oversized coat closet next to the ballroom. So we renovated a room right off of the choir loft that contains stain glass windows from when the church was first built. The golden glow on a sunny day provides an amazing backdrop for pictures. Secondly, we increased our wedding ministry team by creating a role for a sacristan. We recognized that by only having a wedding coordinator overseeing the rehearsals and weddings, we were overlooking the opportunity to be hospitable to people new to College Church. Finally, we streamlined the way that couples could book the Church. We digitized the process. We created a new website for College Church weddings and developed a system that allowed them to book online.

Getting married in the Catholic Church is serious business. Having one person on staff to focus solely on this busy ministry has allowed us to walk with couples from the moment they first make contact with us through their wedding day. I have heard many times how grateful they are for me returning their phone calls in a timely fashion, for explaining thoroughly what their marriage preparation would entail, and being present for them when they need support.

While wedding ministry is a major revenue source for our church, it is also a valuable and necessary ministry. We are accompanying people through a pivotal time in their faith lives. It is easy to fall into the mindset that all the important ministries at College Church happen on Sundays. I encourage you to remember in your prayers the valuable ministry that we do at weddings on Saturdays.

LIGHTWORKS - AN EXPERIENCE OF IGNATIAN PRAYER

LIGHTWORKS is a “light form of work,” a series of limbering up exercises for the spirit. Physical exercises build muscle, increase stamina, and develop flexibility. So LIGHTWORKS does for the spirit. These exercises of prayer and reflection, build our relationship with God and help us become more aware of God’s presence in our lives. It consists of weekly group sessions. Participants are given scripture passages or reflections from the Spiritual Exercises of St. Ignatius to pray over each week. These invite us into conversation with God about our lives. Then during the weekly session, there is sharing about these passages and a presentation. There are 16 weekly sessions with 8 before Thanksgiving and 8 in the new year. LightWorks will be offered at St Louis U High on Oakland this fall on Monday evenings from 6:30 until 8:30 pm, beginning on October 1. Flyers will be available soon at the doorways of the church. For more information, please contact Joseph Milner at 314-977-7305 or joseph.milner@slu.edu

MINDFUL DISCERNMENT: Emotional Intelligence for Leaders Most EQ training focuses only on external behaviors and skills, but this is only the tip of the iceberg. Transformational leaders need a way to access the wisdom of "deep emotional intelligence," the iceberg under conscious awareness. This workshop will show you how to develop a daily contemplative practice (such as mindfulness, meditation, or silent prayer) in a way that unlocks the leadership potential frozen in your non-conscious awareness.

PRESENTED BY: Dr. Thomas J. Bushlack, Ph.D. (Theology), Associate professor of Theology and Christian Ethics & Hsin-hsin Huang, Ph.D. (Counseling & Counselor Education), Associate Professor of Pastoral Theology

DATE: Saturday, September 29, 2018 from 9:00 am to 12:00 pm. The workshop will be presented on Aquinas' campus, streamed online, and will be recorded. To register: visit ai.edu/Outreach/Spirituality-Faith/EQ. COST: $55 (after September 15: $65)

Season of Creation

From September 1 to October 4 Christians around the globe will come together to pray and care for creation during what has been named the "Season of Creation". September 1 was proclaimed as a World Day of Prayer for Creation for the Orthodox in 1989. It was embraced by the major Christian European Churches in 2001 and by Pope Francis for the Roman Catholic Church in 2015, when he extended the World Day of Prayer to the "Season of Creation".

As Catholics we are accustomed to celebrating the various liturgical seasons throughout the Church year. The newly-proclaimed "Season of Creation", (although not an official liturgical season), offers us the chance to focus our attention on God the creator and to reflect on our human responsibility as creatures of Earth to serve and protect all of life. The timeframe precedes October 4, the feast of St. Francis of Assisi, patron of ecology. This is a time for us to pray in gratitude to God for the gift of creation, to learn about integral ecology, and to take concrete actions to care for Earth.

The Ignatian Solidarity Network has created an Ecological Examen as a tool for prayer, reflection and action on behalf of our beloved Earth. On September 2 the parish Circle of Creation Committee will provide copies of this Examen at the church doors. We invite you to take this home and pray it to help us discern how we might become more committed to care for creation and those who are poor.

Bicentennial Lecture Series Continues September 24th With Ignatian Insights for 'Reimagining Health Care'

The Saint Louis University Bicentennial Lecture Series, "The Jesuit Influence in American Spirituality, Education and Society," continues with the Monday, September 24 presentation, "Reimagining Health Care: Ignatian Insights for Achieving the Greater Good." Michael Rozier, SJ, assistant professor of health management and policy at SLU will speak. The presentation will be held 7-8:30 p.m. at St. Francis Xavier College Church, Grand and Lindell boulevards. A light reception follows. Free parking is in the Laclede Garage, at Laclede Avenue and Grand Boulevard.

Rozier has a long history of working with communities of need, including the homeless, incarcerated, and refugees, both in the U.S. and in Latin America. A SLU alumnus, Rozier earned his doctorate in health management and policy at the University of Michigan. He also earned a graduate degree in international health systems from Johns Hopkins University. From 2008-11, Rozier taught global health and public health ethics at SLU and was the founding director of undergraduate education at SLU's School of Public Health.

The series closes on November 5 when Michael Garanzini, SJ, Secretary of Higher Education, Society of Jesus in Rome, speaks on Jesuit Education: Do We Need a New Paradigm?

The series is sponsored by the Saint Louis University Bicentennial Committee and the Office of Mission and Identity. For more information, contact jesuitmission@slu.edu.
